Giftbit

Victoria, British Columbia

Dear Hiring Manager:

I am writing to apply for the Software Engineering Co-op at Giftbit. As someone who is always eager to learn and grow in my field, I believe that this is an excellent opportunity to gain valuable experience and enhance my skills in software development.

I have a deep fascination for the potential of technology to solve intricate problems, and I am continually refining my skills in developing efficient and dependable software solutions. Throughout my academic coursework, I have collaborated with multiple teams on diverse projects, gaining experience in different areas of software development. In addition to my academic projects, I have completed several personal projects, including developing mobile applications, building my personal web portfolio, and creating an obstacle-based game. These projects have given me the opportunity to work on my own, and I have developed strong problem-solving and debugging skills in the process.

In terms of the specific requirements outlined in the job posting, I am confident that my skills and experiences align with the qualifications sought for the role. As someone who values collaboration, I have worked in team environments and collaborated with others during my academic coursework and projects. My coursework and personal projects have given me the foundational knowledge and experience in building web applications using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, as well as Git/Bash for version control. Mobile and desktop application development have always been a strong interest of mine, and I am constantly learning and developing my skillset. I am currently working on two separate projects using Swift for iOS and Kotlin for Android and I am expanding my skills in ReactJS, which I plan to implement in my portfolio website and future projects.

Given my current work-term setup, I am available for either a 4 or 8-month co-op term and would be open to the possibility of participating in two consecutive terms. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to further discuss how my skills and experience can contribute to your team.

Most Sincerely,

Arfaz Hossain
